Washington Chapter

How does a family-run cleaning company from Wasilla Alaska OWN the territory from Butte to Houston?

Your customers don't want cleaning in the winter? Consider the challenge of providing service when the annual average temperature is 37 degrees. Customers don't call when it rains? How about working in a place where they don't bother to keep track of the annual snowfall?

In this fun conversation, CCINW member Tyson Braunies from Wasilla Alaska will be speaking about his experience in Alaska and the challenges of surviving weather, large and very wild animals, and the Palins.

Also, come prepared to tell us what you need from your association. Following the demise of the IICRC association, we have to rethink how we can best serve our membership.
